

Community Solo

a nature-centered, 5-week program to support teams to step more fully into serving life on Earth in these times

how might your organisation evolve by learning to think like nature works?

Why Community Solo

Community Solo is our nature-centred, experiential learning offering- combining face-to-face time in nature, guided online sessions and a self-paced Thershold Walk.

Connect deeply as a team, tap into the collective wisdom within your organisation, and practice new ways of being to cultivate regenerative futures.

team resilience

nature connection

courageous creativity

Explore what you might learn from how nature works through intentional time with/in nature

Re-imagine organisational and individual challenges through alternative lenses.

What we offer

3 x preparatory sessions online

- set context, connect as a community
- explore questions/challenges at a organisational and individual level
- practices to deepen our connection to ourselves, community and to nature
- explore how can nature and the more than human world support our creativity and offer new lenses
- prepare for the threshold walk, explore individual & organisational challenges to bring with us

A threshold walk

- self-paced, intentional time in nature (we all leave on the same day, in locations of our own choosing)
- a conscious time to take a specific question (on an organisational & individual level) on to the land
- open up to deep listening from nature

2 x integration sessions

- integrate the experience & insights after our solo time in nature
- recognise the seeds of potential that we're tending to and how might we stoke our commitment to action in service of regenerative futures

What is a Thershold Walk

The heart of our Community Solo- the thershold walk is a conscious time for diving deep into a specific question/challenge to enter a state of deep listening and to be in touch with nature as a powerful mirror. A few key elements that distinguish an intentional time in nature from an ordinary walk:

Beginning- we set off with a clear intention/question, we mark the threshold & leave distractions behind

During- we follow our wonder & curiosity, we listen deeply. No phones or contact with other humans

After- we mark the threshold as we return, we gather back afterwards to share our insights and listen to each other

Your Basecamp Crew

Dan Burgess
Guide, Co-designer, Artist - creating/holding spaces and journeys for change.

Over 25 years I've gained deep experiential knowledge and cultivated practices harnessing creativity, culture, community and collaboration for action and resilience on complex social, ecological and climate challenges.

I work from the heart, with curiosity, experimentation and imagination.

Evva Semenowicz
Facilitator, experience co-designer & movement practitioner

My practice is rooted in a deep desire to co-create a world we'd be proud to leave behind to future generations.

I am interested in creating spaces that allow us to step into a sense of interdependence and shared responsibility. I have over 10 years of experience in creative strategy & designing experiences for nurturing collective creativity and imagination.

Mark Sears
Nature inspired facilitator, wild guide and soulful activist.

I work with individuals and organisations of all kinds, weaving deep ecology and storytelling with participatory design, movement building and emergent strategy to support the inner work required to navigate these mysterious times.

The spaces I hold are gently playful, deeply soulful and grounded in a reverence for the wonder of the wild world.

What others say

"What a superb and supportive experience this has been.

Thank you for this emerging space you are creating; expertly led and truly regenerative practice."

Janine Barron, Regenerative Business Mentor

"I can't recommend this crew enough. If you have a hunch that this is right for your team, then it is!"

Milena Leszkowicz, Communication Strategist, Impact Hub

"I feel really lucky to have experienced this.

By changing the pace, spending time in nature, and learning without any use of PowerPoint, we were able to build trust and a shared commitment to make a difference."

Alison MacKenzie, Head of Marketing, Boston Tea Party

"This allowed us to connect with what really matters and imbued a sense of determination to get it done, as a collective.

By going on this journey together, we were able to accept the complexity and interconnectedness of the challenges we face and build trust to make effective decisions as a team."

Sam Roberts, CEO & Founder, Boston Tea Party
